

To all members of the F.T.C.

July 24 1997 B21902700550

I am sending you a clipping from my local U.A.W. paper. I hope you do change the contents label. Change it so all materials are made in Foreign Countries. When you are all out of a job because you are not needed you can try to get a job at fast food places. That is if you are lucky. All the other people that are out of work because of your changes will have them.

I am saying to you people at F.T.C. if you allow any more changes to the labels you should be drawn and quartered. If YOU pass it none of you have a right to work for the F.T.C. The only way to change it is to have it all made in the U.S.A.

Here is another little gem. Write a letter to all the people who have lost their jobs to N.A.F.T.A. and explain how those C.E.O.S. are worth that much. Is it because all the material comes from a Foreign country. That way they do not have to pay as much for labor. Ask for their comments on the money those C.E.O.S. make. They will curl your hair.

Bet I do not get an answer from you because you know I am right.

Pretty much 'Made in the U.S.A.'?

WASHINGTON — At the risk of offending the bureaucrats who run the Federal Trade Commission, it seems they don't speak English very well — at least not well enough to understand the meaning of the "Made in the U. S. A." label.

The FTC has proposed weakening standards for "Made in the U. S. A." claims by manufacturers, Spouting something about "changes in consumer expectations about domestic origin claims and changes in today's world marketplace," the FTC proposed new guidelines that sound awfully suspicious. Like maybe allowing the label to be used when "substantially all" of the product is made in America.

Under the new proposal, products would be labeled "Made in the U.S.A." with only 75 percent domestic content. Current rules require such goods to be "all or virtually all made" with domestic labor and materials.

The FTC has asked for written comments. Perhaps some workers whose jobs were moved overseas should explain it to them in plain English.

Forget it. It stinks
